INDEX TO VOL. V.

Abolition of the Peerage, 66—actuating principles of Earl Grey and Casimir Perier, ibid—case of Charles I., ibid—justice of the hereditary peerage, ibid—French chamber of deputies, 67—jacobins in France, ibid—conduct of Louis Philippe on ascending the throne, 68—his disposition, ibid—his unpleasant situation, 69—his abolition of the peerage, ibid—extracts from the report drawn up by the Duke de Cazes, 70—fallacy of yielding to public opinion, 75—pretext of Louis Philippe, ibid—present state of the continent, 74—on creating peers to carry the Reform-bill, ibid—plan advocated by the discontented, and sanctioned by the Whigs and his Majesty's ministers, 75

Address to Cupid, 227

Altrive Tales, by the Ettrick Shepherd, review of, 482

America, Trollope and Paulding on, 336

American Chesterfield, review of, 515

——— Traditions, No. III., 275

Antiquaries, the, literary sketch of, 475

Are we to have new peers or not? 248—applicants for the peerage, ibid—requisites to entitle persons to such distinction, ibid—sentiment of the aristocracy against the Reform-bill, ibid—difficulties of selecting peers, 249—Scotch and Irish Lords, ibid—examination in detail, ibid

Biography, 253

Bits of Classicality, No. III., 520

Black's Lord Plunkett, and Galt's Archibald Jobbry, 244

Book of Jashur, from the Æthiopic, 643

Bouchette's British Dominions in North America, review of, 77

British Association at Oxford, meeting of, for the advancement of science, 750

——— North American provinces, 77—opinions on the value of colonies to nations, ibid—emigration, 78

———, on the Domestic Manners of the, 598—690

Burking, the Philosophy of, 52

Bulwer, Mr. Edward Lytton, good tale badly told by him, 107

Canada, by Tiger—Galt—Picken, 635

Canterbury, the Archbishop of, his bill on pluralities, 545—loud and urgent demand for church reform, ibid—conduct of the prelates, 546—the archbishop's statement, 548—abuse of pluralities, ibid—proposed corrections in the new bill, 549—its specious nature, 550—its injustice, 551

Cemeteries, the climax of, 144

Coleridge (S. T.), his Philosophy, p. 585—his "Address to the Reader," prefixed to the second edition of The Aids to Reflection, ibid—both a poet and metaphysician, 586—refers the laws of nature to the constitution of the human intellect, 587—investigates fundamental truths, ibid—his genius as a poet, 587—example of his metaphysical style, 588—he attaches strict meanings to terms, ibid—value of the science of words, 589—the word "virtue," ibid—Locke's ill use of the word idea, 590—what is an idea? ibid—Kant, 591—the oldest realism, ibid—space, ibid—no existence independent of mind, 592—Sir Walter Raleigh properly distinguishes sense, understanding, and reason, 593—instinct, 594—ultimate facts of human thought, 595—Kant on categories, ibid—great importance of Mr. Coleridge's philosophical views, 597—what is an Irish orator? by him, 721

Collier's History of English Dramatic Poetry, review of, 670

Common Law Reform, 420

Cool Dialogue on Passing Events, between Oliver and his Chum, 621

Correspondents, notices to, 754

Cunningham's Maid of Elvar, review of, 659

Cupid, address to, 227

Discoveries of Modern Geologists, No. I., 552

D'Israeli, Isaac, esq., literary sketch of, 321

Doctrine of free trade, on the, 577

Doctrine, the, of St. Simon, 666

Domestic Manners of the British, by Colonel Hickory, 598—Letter I. from Greenock, ibid—Letter II. from Paisley, 601—Letter III. from Paisley, 691—Letter IV. from Glasgow, 692

Dorf Juystein, a tale, 489

Duncannon, letter of, to Archibald Jobbry, 502

Dutchman's Fireside, review of, 336

Elder, the, in love, 234

Epistles to the Literati, No. II.: Place to Wilson, Wilson to Place, 247—No. III.: Letter of William Holmes, esq., M.P., to Archibald Jobbry, esq., ex-M.P., 376—No. IV.: Letter of Viscount Duncannon, M.P., to Archibald Jobbry, esq., ex-M.P. 502

Ettrick Shepherd, by the: the Twa Burdies, 20—One Thousand Eight Hundred and Thirty-one, 84—the

Elder in Love, 234—his Altrive Tales, review of, 482
Eugene Aram, review of, 107 — genuine account of Aram's trial, ibid

Fast, National Ode in commemoration of, 166
First of July, a parting stave for our fifth volume, 756
Free Trade, on the doctrine of, 577 — systems of our modern statesmen, ibid —Adam Smith and his argument, ibid
French opera, on the, 731

Gallery of Literary Characters: James Hogg, 97—Baron Von Goëthe, 206—Isaac D'Israeli, 321—the Antiquaries, 475—Louis Eustache Ude, 584—Doctor Lardner, 696
Galt and Picken on the Canadas, 635
——'s Archibald Jobbry, and Black's Lord Plunkett, 244
Geologists, their discoveries, 552
German opera, on the, 730
——— Poetry, No. III. p. 280 — Godfred Augustus Bürger, 281 — a dull schoolboy, ibid—Jacob Philip Bauer, ibid—Gökingk, ibid—Klotz, ibid—The Hainbund, 282 — Herr Bacchus ist ein braver Mann, translated, ibid—humour frequently accompanies genius, ibid—Shakespeare and The Percy Reliques, 283—"Wild Hunter" and "Lenore," ibid—Wordsworth's Hart Leap Well, ibid—Bürger's ode on his grandfather, translated, 284 — "Molly's Worth," translated, ibid—Musen Almanach, 285 —"Song of Gratitude," translated, 286 — Johann Heinrich Voss, 288 — The Beggar, translated, 289 — The Luise, 290 — L. H. C. Holty, 292 — Country Life, translated, ibid— Friederich Wilhelm Gotter, 293 — The Maiden, translated, 294
Glove Trade, 322
Goëthe, Baron Von, literary sketch of, 206—his dialogue with Oliver Yorke, 22
———, Schiller, and Madame de Staël, 177
Good Tale badly told, 107
Gower, Lord Francis Leveson, and Alaric Attila Watts, a classic chant between, 583
Great and celebrated Hogg Dinner, 113 —inaccuracy of the reporter's statements, ibid—interruption of Moyes's vassal, 114 — description of the company, ibid, 115 — deplorable situation of the landlord of the Freemasons' tavern, and his interview with the secretary of the board of health, ibid—extract from the Morning Advertiser, ibid—Hook's impromptu, 116 — Sir John Malcolm, 117—Paganini's catastrophe, ibid—toasts, ibid—Hogg's speech, 119 — Picken's speech, 120 — the Shepherd's song, ibid—Brougham's speech, 123—Cunningham's song, 124—Liston Bulwer's speech and song, 125—Robertson's speech, ibid—uproar, 126—finale, ibid
Growl at the Lords, by Sir Morgan O'Doherty, 630

Hall's Fragments of Voyages and Travels, review of, 462
Head's Life of Bruce, review of, 462
Heraud, John A., a national ode, by him, 166
Hickory, Colonel, on the domestic manners of the British, 598, 690
Historical Drama, 670—extract from the Rev. W. L. Bowles' St. John at Patmos, ibid — Collier's History of English Dramatic Poetry, 672 — Pennie's Britain's Historical Drama, ibid—Bürger, the German poet, 680
——— Romance, No. I.: Sir Walter Scott and his imitators, 6—on the self-sufficiency of genius and the force of nature, ibid — Tales of my Landlord, fourth series; Count Robert of Paris, 7—criticism on it, 16 — Castle Dangerous, ibid — the argument resumed, 17 — Cunningham's Paul Jones, 18 — Porter's Scottish Chiefs, ibid — Schiller's Wallenstein, ibid; No. II., 207—genius of Shakespeare, ibid—recapitulation of the real events of the life of Paul Jones, 208—his character, 209 — real historical facts: Lord Dalveen and Paul Jones, 210 — Miss Porter's Wallace and his Virgin Bride, 214 — Spencer's Faery Queen, 215 — advice to future novelists, ibid — Homer's Odyssey, ibid — Wolfe of Badenoch, 216—Shakespeare's character of Hotspur, ibid
Hogg, James, literary sketch of, 98—the great and celebrated dinner given to him, 113
Holmes, William, esq., epistle to him, from Archibald Jobbry, esq., 376

Indian, the, and the hunter, 275
Invasion of Portugal, 218—Don Pedro's visit to Europe, ibid—his claims, ibid —his naval and military forces, 221 — conduct of Lord Grey and his colleagues, ibid — the Don's manifesto, 223—on the accusations against Don Miguel, 226
Irving, the Rev. Edward, his facts on the recent manifestations of spiritual gifts (continued), 198—inward experience from meditation on this subject, ibid — perfect identity of these gifts with what is written in the Scriptures, ibid—results of meditations on it, 204 — conclusion, reflections in general, and obligations of the church, 316
Italian opera, 727

Jashur, the book of, from the Æthiopic, 643
Johnson, Croker's edition of Boswell's Life of, introduction to a review of, 253—biography in general, ibid—works of art, 254—of history, ibid—of fictitious narratives, 255—extract on reality, from Gottfried Sauerteig's Æsthetische Springwürzel, ibid—Lord Clarendon's narrative of Charles, 258—glimpses of Reality in Boswell's Life of Johnson, ibid—want of good biographies in England, 260—criticism on Croker's edition, 379—James Boswell, 382—Samuel Johnson, 390
Jobbry, Archibald, esq., review of his Autobiography, 369—his epistle to William Holmes, esq., 376—letter to him from Viscount Duncannon, 502

Kemble, Miss Fanny, her Francis the First, review of, 432
Knowles, Mr. Sheridan, his Hunchback, review of, 432

Lander's Expedition to the Niger, review of, 462
Lardner, Rev. Dr., literary sketch of, 696
Law, Common, Reform, Reports of the Commissioners on, 420
Lays of the Twaddle School, No. III.: Gower and Watts, 583
Letters to the Learned Professions, No. I.: to the Students of Medicine, 238
Life and Times of Wiclif, 177
—— of Mazarin, 40
London: a National Song, 154

Maid of Elvar, review of, 659
Marriage Impromptu, 35
Martyrs, the, 413
Martyr-Student, 95
Mary Fenwick, a tale, 228
Mazarin, life of, 40
Meeting, at Oxford, of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, 750
Member, the; an Autobiography, review of, 369
Metaphysics, Lady Mary Shepherd on, 697—Fearn's Lines of the Human Mind, ibid—Barker's Parriana, ibid—Stewart's Dissertation, 700
Miss Pipson, 708
Modern Pythagorean, by the, Philosophy of Burking, 52—address to Cupid, 227
Moodie, Mrs., London: a national song, by her, 154

National Ode, in commemoration of the proposed general Fast, 166
Nature's Gifts, 51
Newcastle, Duke of, his Address to all Classes and Conditions of Englishmen, 351
Newgate, the Schoolmaster's Experience in, 521, 736

O'Doherty, Sir Morgan, a growl at the Lords, by him, 630
Oliver Yorke's Epistle to the Reading Public, 1—his At Home, No. III.; a dialogue with Johann Wolfgang Von Goëthe, 22—state of Europe to the poet and philosopher, ibid—governments, 23—society, ibid—Müller, 24—Goëthe's Torquato Tasso, 25—aristocracy of England, ibid—Keepsake, ibid—Lord John Russell's London in September (not in 1831), 26—Watts' Literary Souvenir, ibid—Schiller's Thirty Years' War, 27—literature of the present day, ibid—Goëthe's Leiden des jungen Werthur, ibid—Village Patriarch, author of Corn-Law Rhymes, ibid—criticism, ibid—Götz von Berlichingen mit der eisernen Hand, 28—Martin Luther in the garden of St. Bede, ibid—Schiller's Robbers, ibid—Collins's Ode on the Poetical Character, ibid—Southey, Coleridge, Wordsworth, Godwin, Byron, Shelley, Scott, 29—Goëthe's Wilhelm Meister's Apprenticeship, and his Faust, 30—Thomas Carlyle, ibid—his Life of Schiller, ibid—Byron's Cain, ibid—Godwin's philosophy, ibid—Hope's Origin and Prospects of Man, ibid—Fraser's Magazine, ibid—the Mexican Cozcacoantitli, ibid—description of, 31—the prospects and designs of, 32—St. Simon, ibid—present crisis in England, 33—extract from Wakefield's Householders in Danger from the Populace, 34—cool dialogue between Oliver and his Chum, 621
One Thousand Eight Hundred and Thirty-one, by the Ettrick Shepherd, 84
Opera, on the, No. IV.—management, 722—dancers, ibid—Italian opera, 727—German, 730—French, 731
Our Royal-Academical Lounge, 709
Oxford, scientific meeting at, 750

Packet Establishments, Home Station, 261
Parties, No. I., 448—preface to the subject, ibid—origin and nature of parties, 449—No. II., their importance, 603
Parting Stave in honour of the Conclusion of our Fifth Volume, 756
Paulding on America, review of, 336
Peerage, the, abolition of, 66
Peers or not, are we to have? 248
Pennie's Britain's Historical Drama, review of, 670
People, the, of England—who are they? 98—Sir John Fortescue's contrast between the commons of France and England, ibid—altogether ideal, ibid—his description of what the English ought to be, ibid—their comparison with the French, 99—their right use of conscience, ibid—their sociality, 100—their difference of origin from their neighbours, 101—necessity of a due sympathy between the better and inferior natures, ibid—Burke's definition, 102—Hazlitt, ibid—Bacon, 103—necessary division of society, ibid—early history of Britain, 104—reform at present proposed, 105—want of a history of the English people, 106

Perils of a Political Unionist, 360
Philosophy, the, of Burking, 52
Picken and Galt on the Canadas, review of, 635
Place and Wilson, correspondence between, 247
Plague in the fourteenth century, 415
Pluralities, the Archbishop of Canterbury's bill on, 545
Portugal, invasion of, 218
Poetry: Twa Burdies, 20—Nature's Gifts, 51—Solitude, 65—vision of Scheik Hamel, 76—One thousand eight hundred and thirty-one, 84—Martyr-Student, 95—London: a national song, 154—a National Ode on the proposed General Fast, 166—Warrior's Steed, 197—Address to Cupid, 227—Elder in Love, 234—Martyrs, 413—Miss Pipson, 708—Notices to Correspondents, 754, 755—First of July, 756
Political Unionist, perils of, 360
Present Balance of Parties in the State, and the results of the Reform-bill, 294—principles which should actuate all political parties, ibid—Hume, ibid—Burke, ibid—conduct of parties, 295—the evil of public interference, ibid—conspicuous influence of Tories and Whigs, 296—Radical party consequent upon the French revolution, ibid, 297—difficult situation of the Whigs, ibid—reign of George IV. and defeat of the Wellington administration weakened the Whig party, 298—their desire of place, ibid—critical situation of affairs, 299—union of Whigs and democrats, ibid—mischievous consequences, ibid—policy of the Liberals towards Ireland, 300—their doctrine of non-intervention, ibid—conduct in and out of office in foreign affairs, 301—in financial expedients, ibid—their policy since the 1st of March, 302—their present situation, 305—democratic war against the aristocracy began at the revolution, and continued ever since, 306—extract from The Progress of the Revolutions of 1640 and 1830 (note) ibid—Mr. Thomas Macaulay: Sir John Walsh's definition of his arguments, 307—summary of his last oration, 308—fallacies of his system, 309—feeling in favour of democracy, 311—Sir John Walsh's closing observations, ibid—North American Review on our Reform-bill, 312—injustice of the measure under the plea of "Prescription," 313—fearful situation of the Lords, 315—an appeal to them, 316
Present Condition of Public Affairs, 508—Whig ministry, ibid—Wellington ministry, 511—appeal to all upright, reflecting, patriotic men, 513—to the ministry and its confederates, 514
Progress of Revolution: a Satire, 683
Public Affairs, the present condition of, 508

Raleigh, Sir Walter, life of, 649
Reform-bill, the results of, 294
Rencontres on the Road, No. II., Marriage Impromptu, 35—No. III., Mary Fenwick, 228—No. IV., Saturday, 567
Reports of the Commissioners on Common Law Reform, 420—present system admits of reform, though it is infinitely superior to our earlier eras, ibid—litigation not an evil, 421—to secure men of genius and talent at the bar, the remuneration must be ample, ibid—vindication of our present system, and no good ground for altering it to a code of laws, ibid, 424—general view of the alterations recommended, ibid—co-operation of government necessary, 430—difference between the Whigs in and out of office, 431—Lord Brougham in particular, ibid
Results of the Reform-bill, 294
Resurrectional Recreations; introductory epistle, 85
Revolution, progress of, a satire, 683
Royal-Academical Lounge, 709

Saturday, a tale, 567
Schiller, Goëthe, and Mad. de Staël, 177
Schoolmaster's Experience in Newgate, 521—circumstances in which he was placed for arriving at correct information, ibid—uniformity of crime in the metropolis, ibid—Wakefield's Facts quoted, 522—minor punishments not regarded by culprits, 523—calculated to encourage young offenders, 524—evils of low publications, 525—punishment of boys by transportation, 526—chances of escaping punishment, 527—administration of penalties, 530—Old Bailey court, ibid—No. II. Hurried Trials, 736—manner of conducting them at the Old Bailey, ibid—and for a court of appeal, ibid—case of Price, 737—of a bookbinder, ibid—practice of attorneys, 738—of counsel, 739—petty cases of committals to Newgate, 740
Scott, Sir Walter, and his imitators, 6, 207
Shepherd, Lady Mary, her metaphysics, 697 (See Metaphysics)
Shiel versus the Tithes, 476—his speech the 8th of March, ibid

Shipping interest, silk manufacture, and glove trade, 322—grievances of the ship-owners, ibid—tarnish of our national honour, 323—necessity of England having command of the ocean, 324—old navigation laws, and their object, ibid—effects of the new laws, 325—ignorance and folly of their advocates, 326—their statements and reasonings, 327—answer to them, 328—dissatisfaction of Prussia, Sweden, Denmark, &c. ibid, 329—foreign treaties, ibid—treasury prints, and their use of the king's name, 330—attention of young members of parliament drawn to several leading points, ibid—situation of the silk and glove manufacturer nearly similar to that of the ship-owner, 321—causes and reasons pleaded by the oracles of parliament, 332—trade with France, 333—clamour for free trade in corn, 334—inevitable distress of the country, 335

Siege of Micford, 275

Silk manufacture, 322

Sock, the, and Buskin, No. III., 432—No. IV., on the Opera, 722

Solitude, 65

Speech, by way of rider to a late debate, 493—house of peers, ibid—Earl Grey, ibid—Lord Ellenborough, 494—Bishop of Durham, 495—Earl Shrewsbury, ibid—Earl Harrowby, ibid—Lord Wharncliffe, 496—Bishop of London, ibid—Bishop of Exeter, ibid—Bishop of Llandaff, 498—Marquess of Lansdown, ibid—Lord Wynford, ibid—Lord Durham, ibid—Earl of Winchelsea, 499

Spirit and Practice of the Whig Executive, 127—the writer's opinions, ibid—his disclaimer against party fetters, ibid—the existence of Whigs and Tories constitutional and necessary, 128—the general history of Whiggism, ibid—the favourable opportunity afforded to the Whigs, ibid—disappointment felt at their conduct, ibid—essentials of Whiggism renounced by them, ibid—freedom and right at the mercy of the executive, 129—a proper spirit and mode essential to the ruler, ibid—striking characteristics of true Whiggism, 130—very different from the despotism evinced by the present ministry, ibid—happy combination of circumstances for disposing of the Reform question, ibid—the plan it gave birth to, 131—ground on which the leading Whigs before this time called for Reform, ibid—Earl Grey's declaration in 1797, ibid—radicalism shewn in their Reform, ibid—the purity of the House of Commons before whom it was first brought, ibid—the suppression of the legislature, 132—the new House of Commons practically elected by the crown, ibid—the means used, ibid—observations on them, ibid—the crown intentionally the real elector, and not the multitude, 133—the constitutional uses and duties of the House of Commons suppressed, ibid—the willingness of the peers to sanction a less sweeping and speculative scheme of Reform, ibid—the new bill more objectionable than the first, 134—guilt of the resolution to create peers, ibid—the despotism of the crown, ibid—how these proceedings are defended, 135—the alleged restoration of the people's rights, 136—right of peers to interfere on the Reform question, 137—prerogative of the crown, ibid—the creation of peers, extract from Burke, 138—Earl Grey of 1793 quoted, ibid—limitation placed on the crown by the nomination boroughs, 139—the prerogative to be exercised by a patriotic king and ministry, ibid—the delusion of this French Whig scheme of government, 140—its arbitrary character throughout, 142—the public press and its mandates, ibid—new mode of enriching the people, 143—an efficient and comprehensive Reform advocated, if bestowed by the three estates of the realm, ibid

Spiritual Gifts, manifestations of, 198, 316

Staël, Mad. de, Schiller, and Goëthe, 177

Statistical Sketches of Upper Canada, review of, 635

Stock Exchange, No. III., 155

St. Simon, the doctrine of, 666

Tales and Narratives: Twa Burdies, 20—Marriage Impromptu, 35—Mary Fenwick, 227—Elder in Love, 234—Indian and the Hunter, or the Siege of Micford, 275—Dorf Juystein, 489—Saturday, 567

Tales of My Landlord, Fourth Series, review of, 6

Theological Library, No. I. Life of Wiclif, review of, 177—defence of the church, ibid—dread of the ascendency of the Romanist faith, ibid—dissenting sects in the United States, ibid—Coleridge's Constitution of Church and State, ibid—Le Bas's Life of Wiclif, 178—Luther and Wiclif compared, 196

Thomson's Life of Sir W. Raleigh, review of, 649—Mr. Lodge, 650—Raleigh's Life, ibid—extracts from the Curiosities of Literature, 655

Tithes, Shiel versus the, 476

Tour of a German Prince, Vols. III. and IV., review of, 533

Trollope's Domestic Manners of the Americans, review of, 336

Twa Burdies, 20

Twenty-second Report on the Revenue: packet establishment, home station,

261—diligence of the committee of the House of Commons, ibid—various reports referred to, 262—Holyhead station, 263—Liverpool station, 267—route previous to the establishment of the steam-vessels, 271—various proposals for accelerating the London and Liverpool correspondence, 273—Milford establishment, ibid—Portpatrick ditto, ibid

Ude, Louis Eustache, literary sketch of, 584

Vision, the, of Scheik Hamel, 76
Voyages and Travels: Basil Hall, 462—the Landers and Major Head, 470

Walsh's, Sir John, Present Balance of Parties, review of, 294
Warrior's Steed, 197
Watts, A. A., and Lord F. L. Gower, a classic chant between, 583
What is an Irish Orator? By S. T. Coleridge, 721
Whig executive, the spirit and practice of, 127
Who are the People of England? 98
Wiclif, Life of, review of, 177
Wilson and Place, correspondence between, 247

Yorke, Oliver, his Epistle to the Reading Public, 1.

END OF VOL. V.

J. Moyes, Castle Street, Leicester Square.